Taking its name from the Latin word for "extend," the Duca candleholder does exactly that: by loosening the screw on its slender stem, the height of the design can be adjusted as the candle burns. Cast in polished or bronzed brass and detailed with rattan enfolded around its lower half, the simple yet impactful design brings a sense of intimacy and warmth to its surroundings.

Discovering a simple mechanical detail used to extend the height of objects while working with a blacksmith, the Danish design studio Krøyer-Sætter-Lassen put the small yet significant detail to work as a key element of the new Duca candleholder. Challenging the typically static silhouette of the object, the screw function allows users to personalise the height of the candleholder by extending or shortening its length. Available in polished brass or bronzed brass entwined with rattan, Duca pairs contrasting natural materials to create a tactile addition to MENU's collection of interior objects.

About the Designer

The Copenhagen-based design studio Krøyer-Sætter-Lassen creates furniture and interior objects for clients across the world. Founded in 2016 by Mads Sætter-Lassen and Emil Krøyer, both graduates of the Royal Danish Academy of Fine Arts, School of Design, their honest approach to design results in logical, functional and sculptural objects that showcase their strong cultural understanding and Danish design heritage to bridge the gap between art and design.
